he was terribly thirsty, and at the same time he felt fatigue and a profound sense of angst.
australia is an independent western democracy with a population of more than 22 million (89 urban population) concentrated along the eastern and southeastern coasts